

The Africa Centres for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) was established by the African Union in Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, in January 2016. Inspired by its namesake in the USA, the Africa CDC serves as an information-sharing platform for member states.

Five regional collaborating centres, one for each of central, eastern