

International Webinar Series
New Perspectives on Collective Healing ±Social Justice ±Global Well-Being

The UNESCO Routes of Enslaved Peoples Project: Resistance, Liberty, Heritage and the Global Humanity for Peace Institute, University of Wales Trinity St David (UWTSD), are jointly hosting an international webinar series on Collective Healing, Social Justice and Global Well-Being.

Objective

The series ambition is to bring together new perspectives on collective healing to address the legacies of dehumanisation resulting from enslavement and the trade of enslaved people. Dialogues will explore the shifting landscape of knowledge, cultural wisdom and emergent practices towards promoting antiracism and social justice and advancing

Programme Outline for the first webinar on Understanding history, legacies of enslavement, intergenerational trauma & collective KHDOLQJ¶

Zeinab % D G D Bibliography

Zeinab Badawi was born in the Sudan, she moved to London with her family as a child. She has a BA Hons in Philosophy, Politics and Economics from Oxford University and a post-graduate degree in history (awarded with a distinction) from SOAS, London University. Zeinab has worked extensively in the British media for four decades and is now best known for her work in the % % & international division at BBC World News TV and BBC World Service Radio on programmes such as 'Hard Talk', and 'Global 4 X H V Was Releas a major 20-part TV serim 0 g 0 6134 TcB 1 0 0 1 249.1 645.7 Tm 0 g 0 G [() TJ E